

are all of them in adverse or rather in indifferent circumstances; she also states that her husband has not, since he left home, contributed one cent to the support of herself or children except the sum of ten dollars which he sent her by a friend about a fortnight after his departure. She states that the departure of her husband was not occasioned by any family friend or despatch and that she has no wish to reproach him for his conduct; that she regrets to state even the foregoing and subsequent facts; that they are not stated to reproach him, but because, being true, she is advised it is necessary, to the success of this her petition, to state them.

Your petitioner states that she has an estate in remainder in fee simple in the land aforesaid, on which the life estate of William Kirk has been sold as before mentioned. She states that she has an opportunity to sell her estate in the said land, but cannot do so, being advised that, as the law now stands, she cannot convey the title unless her husband will also join in the execution and delivery of the deed; and ~~that~~ by reason of the facts and circumstances aforesaid, it is impossible either to procure him to join in the execution and delivery of it, or to consult him as to the property of the sale thereof.

Your petitioner also states that her circumstances are very much
